

THE

haunting of the Ghost Lizard

by Amber

Amber woke up startled by the shrill ringing of her alarm clock.

Amber had blonde and brown hair and blue eyes. She was wearing a top that was as blue as the ocean. Amber was fifteen and decided to ask her mum to go to a beautiful hill top site with a burial ground called Cairnpapple.

Amber decided to ask her mum if she could go to Cairnpapple and her mum agreed. As Amber started to cycle she was getting tired and she saw some woods ahead so she thought she could stop in the woods. It was a shortcut that she could take after she got her breath back.

Amber went into the woods but she had a strange feeling about it. When she entered she knew why because the woods seemed dark, unusual and very unpleasant. After she got her breath back she went to go out of the woods but she couldn't find the way out!

Amber quickly realised that she forgot to bring her phone so she couldn't call her mum to tell her mum where she was. Amber felt awful for forgetting to bring her phone so she closed her eyes and wished she was at Cairnpapple and when she opened her eyes she was at Cairnpapple!

Amber was admiring the burial grounds when she heard a strange rustling sound from behind the grass hill. Amber went to check it out but when she went behind the grass hill no body or anything was there.

She saw a strange ghost-like figure holding a creature that looked like a lizard. The ghost-like figure walked over to Amber and she saw that it was a girl about the same age as her. The girl handed the lizard creature to Amber and Amber took it back home and decided to call the lizard Lizzie. She fed her, cared for her and looked after Lizzie so well.

After a while, Amber thought that she should let Lizzie go so, she let Lizzie out of the window so that she could be free!

A few weeks later Amber discovered some white-clear eggs under her bed and in a lot of places and found out that they were the ghost Lizzies eggs...
