The Bathgate hills

It was November 9 1979 I was walking my dog and then it happened it was a sign in a hole. It was in Alan Spence's Shop. But at the start I thought it was a glowing orb. And when it sound out what it was I was teleported in to it. It was magical it was put in to a cell that was purple and a holographic door and it was massive inside. But it was the alien it was a person that looked a human then I felt really drowsy.

It had been a long time because when I went home there were missing posters on the main street and my dog had disappeared. I went home then I had a head ache so I went to the NHS. So I went to the X-ray room and it was bad. I had a chip behind my ear connected to my brain with no scars. The Doctors were amazed. Then I went back it was never the same again after that day.
