

Cockletoy hill, Yoda's home?

One day a boy named Oliver went to Cockletoy with his Grandad. Oliver was... (I'm not gonna lie he's pretty dumb) and quite tall. His Grandad was a fun and nice person. and he thought Yoda from Star Wars lived in the hill.

So they went on a walk to the park. Oliver told his Grandad he was going to go shoeing for shoes so he went and got his shoeing Rod and went to the shoe shop.

On his way there he heard an old man wheezing in the bushes this noise frightened Oliver so he hid behind a big rock and he looked behind the rock and he saw an old green man with pointy ears trotting along the path. he glanced around "it can't have been a human" what ever was that - it just vanished!?" then he heard his Grandad's voice. "What's taking sooooo long I want some shoes for dinner!" "I saw what looked like Yoda!" said Oliver then his Grandad said "Me and Yoda are friends!" What!?!?

The end
