

Terror on the hills

A group of explorers decide to explore the famous Bathgate hills they heard there are mysterious creatures on the hills, but no one knows except an old couple that has been missing since 89's. They slowly start gathering gear to go on top of the hills when suddenly they hear the voice of an old lady coming from the woods behind them. Alexander the oldest member of the group and the leader goes to see what is happening as he approaches the woods a mysterious voice "says don't go the hills are cursed" Alexander weirded out turns around and runs back to their camp at the bottom on the Bathgate hills. He got back and said he heard an angel like voice warning him, but they say he's just tired and should go to sleep he goes to sleep, and everyone forgets. New day and it's the day of the expeditions of the Bathgate hills all wake up get their gear and start walking up hill 10 minutes in the start hearing weird and creepy noises