

Bathgate Hills

All of us must enjoy going for a drive to the Bathgate hills, especially on a sunny day. But do you know what happened in Bathgate hills?

This is all about a story of some friends going on the hills to camp but they saw something that terrified them...

"Do you guys want to go to Bathgate hills to camp?" said Fae curiously. "Yes!!" said the rest of Fae's friends except from one. "Don't you think it's a bad idea? I've heard myths saying there's a woman in a white dress who doesn't have a head!" said the other friend who was called Haley. "Oh please Haley! You really believe those myths now? How stupid is that!" said Fae. Fae started laughing at Haley so did the rest. Haley started laughing as well. "You guys really think I was serious! Of course I wasn't!" said Haley in a lying tone.

Fae started the engine and drove her friends to Bathgate hills. Fae and her friends started jamming with the music on the radio until the news came on. "Ugh, we were just jamming to some music!" said Fae angrily. The news reporters on the radio were saying that the hills in Bathgate hills was apparently haunted since a family died there. As soon as they heard this they didn't think it was much of a deal since they thought it was fake.

By Zunairah

After a few hours, they had arrived there and got their camping equipment out to get ready. They walked up the hill and organised their equipment. One of Fae's friends; called Quinn heard something unusual. "Did you guys hear that?" said Quinn in a terrifying tone. "Uhm... what are you talking about? We didn't hear anything?" replied Fae with a confused face. "But I swore I heard something-" said Quinn until she was interrupted by Grace; which was another one of their friends.

"Guys! Look what I found, It's a hand-d..." said Grace in a terrifying voice. They all started running to the hand Grace found. When they looked at it, it was like they saw a ghost.

"Guys! I told you there's probably spirits here!" said Haley. They all started running and ran far away from the hand. Until two of them got lost, Fae and Haley thankfully never got lost but right in front of them was the lady Haley was talking about. The lady was floating and broke their necks but they started laughing while it happened, which was very unusual...

THE NEXT DAY

Reporters had found their body in the morning and investigated the situation. But unfortunately the two of them had been missing and could not find them.

They have now been missing for about 20 years and still no one has found them, yet...