

Aiden

bathgate hills the alien

As I walked down the bathgate hills I heard a rumble in the ground as a beast burst out of one of the hills. It looked around in search of something to eat. It spotted a man with his dog and immediately went for the man (but not the dog of course). It devoured the man with no hesitation as it searched for more prey it saw me and began to chase. As it chased me with blood dripping from its mouth it smashed right through one of the hills but luckily I hid and it lost track of me. The creature then made a call to the rest of the creatures. Then they all smashed out the ground as the one from before hovered over the rest with its red glow and its sinister look.

