Bathgate hills 16th July 2029

2:36 pm

Two young men around the age of 16 where walking up the bathgate hills to see what it was like. When walking up the hills one of the young men tripped and hit his knee.

He struggled to move the pain was unreal they had no phone because they wanted not to get attached while walking the boys had to wait for someone to come and call for help

4:39 pm It was getting cold and even worse they where getting hungry they see what they think is a man they scream and shout for help ... no reply the men

Kpt walking they scream again more people appear from behind the man.

There was about 20 people speaking to each other with cases of stuff. A man with a camera?

Who is ever there the boys thought. They had a bag full of things one of the things being binoculars they had a closer look they could not believe it what on earth was Kevin heart and dwayne jch stone doing at bathgate hills. They filmed a movie after they came over and they obviously had a phone the ambulance came and turns out one of the young boys had a split knee
