Bathgate Hills – Storytelling Competition

Bathgate hills was always a spooky place due to the amount of thunder and fog but bathgate hills just got alot more spookier. People have gone missing left, right and center no one had a clue whats happening and how it was being done.

It was ~~was~~ September the 24th as everyone thought it'd be another spine-chilling night with all the fog but no-one would expect a missing person as no-one goes out past 11PM at night but everyone ignored it as in the past theres been jokes about people gone missing, as the day would pass people would notice that they were actually missing so most of everybody would try convince the police to send a search team out to look for them, surprisingly enough they actually did send one out.

so everyone moved on with their lives. But a couple days later on the night of September the 25th a loud scream was heard outside, around 2AM the scream could be compared to as loud as a gun. It woke everyone up this went further than some joke everyone thought it was. the next morning everyone had their guards up as now you could get kidnapped any minute. there was 2 groups in bathgate hills now 1. the people who stayed inside 2. the people who grouped up to find the missing people. Now there was triple the amount of search squads sent out to different areas of bathgate hills.

As time passed nothing had come up/got found until 7PM, A body had been found in a river it was the body of the first victim, John David a 21 year old male. Speculations says he was out drinking just before he got kidnapped, no-one knows why or how he got kidnapped. It was heart-breaking to everyone especially his family from 7-8PM the entire place of Bethgate hills was dead silent.
