Last week I went to becrains with my friend Daisy. It was very fun. We played at the park. we ~~walked down~~ to a ~~thrace lake~~ and we went a walk but Daisy was acting strange.

Then Daisy "whispered" there's someone behind us. I replied "it's fine it's just a old man. wanna go on the slide?" "yea lets go" said Daisy happily. Daisy wasn't acting strange anymore. When we got to the slide - there was a bit of a queue. so we waited. About five minutes later it was our turn. Daisy went first then it was going to be me but Daisys hair got stuck. Daisy screamed the old man walked over and asked "do you need help?" but before we could reply, he yanked Daisys hair.

Then he grabbed her leg and ran in to the trees. I shouted "Daisy Daisy!" while I chased after them. I ran after them for a long long long time! Until Daisy dropped to the ground and the man dissapeared. I ran over to her and checked if she was ok. she was fine.

Me and Daisy started walking out of the forest. it took us a very long time. When we got out of the forest we phoned my parents to come pick us up. We never saw the man again - the end!
