

21.9.22 Bathgate Trolls

Ellsie

One night a couple 1 male, 1 female saw something in the Bathgate Hills in the 1800s. At the time there was a story going about 'The trolls', apparently if anyone dared to go through this one bridge there was a group maybe 12 or 17 groups of these ugly, small and terrifying trolls. This couple were adventurous they liked to face their fears and other peoples fears.

That's when the couple went to the Bathgate Hills and saw the bridge. The man had a really bad feeling about what might happen.

All of a sudden the women gone no sight of her at all, the noise quiet as if the world just got whiped out, only the wind whistling by his ears. One blink the man was also gone.

Never to be seen again...

No one will go near the Bathgate Hills again.

