monster in the forest

It was the year 1964 on 31st of October or Halloween. Jack had just turned 17. And his dad had got him a car. It was a nice day so he decided to go for a walk up to Bathgate hills so he went to Bathgate hills and when they were walking down a path after a little while of walking down the trail they saw a path they had never seen before so they decided to follow that path but as they got closer they felt a bit on edge but they decided to go anyway but the further they went the colder darker it got but that didn't bother them much. so they stopped after a while but when they did something ran past then Jack got a massive scratch down his back and that was their tipping point. They started sprinting back but the forest was endless the more they ran all they could see was forest so they started running the other way. After a bit of running it was getting lighter so they used all their energy to sprint the last distance and when they got they where on the same trail where the path split off so they tried to go where the trail was but it wasn't there so they headed back to the car and they went to the police station and they said that there was something in the forest trying to kill them but the cops just thought they where just some drunk teenagers. the police said they could arrest them for underaged drinking so they had no option but to head home and then when he told his dad he saw the fear in Jack and Alex's eyes and then Jack showed his dad his back and there was a massive scratch down his back and blood was dripping but back at the police station a police man was looking through cases and he noticed that all the people had saw some monster. Minutes later they heard a shater and a scream and then the cheif runs in and sees a police hat on the ground and on the desk there was a splat of blood.

So the police drive over to the house and ask them where the forest was and without saying anything Jack gets in his car and drives to Alex's place but when he gets there he hears a scream and a shatter Jack busts down the door and there blood on the table the walls so Jack runs to his car and starts chasing the monster in the car when they arrive the police weren't far behind but Jack starts driving through the forest to keep up with the monster when he arrives at the monster's den there are dead people that were reported missing but he sees Alex and he's still alive he starts dragging him out and that's when he sees bright lights and that was the police running as he's dragging Alex out a police officer starts helping him so they pick him up and start jogging out once there out the police officer helps Alex into the ambulance but Alex said the monster had red eyes a deer skull on its face and 7ft tall with super strength and speed but as he said that a Police man flies out and two minutes later a officer comes out covered in blood and say the monsters dead and. 1 year later Alex was OK and they decided to go up to the forest but when they got there, 2 big monsters were standing above Alex and Jack.
