

15.9.22

Bathgate Hills

I was going for a walk to cairnpapple, I do this every day because I live close to it so I was just walking like I do everyday but today I heard a strange noise coming from the trees so I went over to where the noise was coming from and there was a transparent figure standing on a tree stump, he was wearing a tin foil blanket around him and he was looking devious. I was scared as I approached him because he was so menacing and tall I was about to ask questions but he disappeared just as I was about to ask for their name.

