

The Person in the Trees

I was getting ready to go on my camping trip. I got in my car and drove to Bathgate hills. It was quite dark already my long dark hair was blowing in the wind and I can swear I saw something lurking in the trees...

I started setting up my camp, my friend was still not here. The large waterproof tent was pinned to the ground. I think I heard a big big bang from somewhere underground. My fire was going strong while I was making food. I saw a figure in the trees.. it was a tall man with slender fingers and a black suit on he had no face but yet I could still feel him staring at me. I moved away from the fire and slid inside the tent. I was eating snack and sitting on my bed.

I heard sudden footsteps from outside my tent to large to be my friends.. I saw the figure of a large man from outside my tent. He came closer and closer. He looked around my tent and all around the camp flipping over everything on his way. He started to slowly unzip my tent and... I heard the sound of a engine and my friend started shouting for him to go away he started walking back into trees not turning back. My friend unzipped the tent quickly checking if im ok. She gave me a large hug.. I never slept that night knowing that something was lurking up in the hills behind the trees.
